It's Hive Five time again! And we want you to tell us about your favorite desktop media players.I'm a VLC guy through and through; it's been my default media player of choice for my desktop PC, my laptops, and my mobile devices for as long as I can remember. I've never strayed, though I will admit that I used to fiddle with Media Player Classic as well. Eventually, I realized it didn't make much sense to have two media player applications on my Windows PC, so MPC had to go.There's nothing wrong with VLC at all; it's a fine player that can handle almost everything you throw at it. However, since I'm such a loyalist, I don't have a ton of experience with any other media player applications that you might be just as good. (Or better?) What's your favorite?I'm curious. Do you stick with your operating system's built-in defaults? A little Windows Media Player or Quicktime? An app that's a sister to the server software that powers all your media streaming, such as Plex Media Player? Something exclusive and fancy for your OS of choice (IINA)? A lovely open-source, cross-platform alternative (MPV)? Some crazy tool that lets you listen to music from a terminal command?G/O Media may get a commissionHere's what I need from you: In the comments, tell me what app(s) you love and why. I'll feature the best answers in a follow-up post that highlights the amazing media player apps I've found (and you've recommended). Then we can all sit in a group chat and watch a documentary or something; I'll bring the virtual popcorn.Windows Media Player was developed by Microsoft and has become the default video player when it comes to Windows in the minds of its users.
